Revolving-Door Donor Network and LD-203 Compliance

Count supported. Count 5 (revolving door).

Structure. This exhibit combines the revolving-door donor inventory, the LDA §203 (2 U.S.C. § 1604(d)) semi-annual contribution-filing compliance test on every named donor, the client-employee donor-cluster cross-checks, the outbound-pipeline negative finding, and the chamber-plus-peer baseline scope. It supersedes the earlier split presentation.

1. Executive summary

Five named ex-federal-agency officials subsequently registered as federal lobbyists and donated to respondent's principal committee. Their portfolios track the federal roles they came from, and those portfolios overlap respondent's committee jurisdictions — defense primes, international trade, CFTC-regulated financial services, tech / intellectual property, and House leadership-adjacent healthcare. Corporate-PAC giving from the same set of firms to respondent is zero across thirteen candidate-PAC identifiers, consistent with respondent's publicly stated no-corporate-PAC policy; the network's monetary flow therefore runs through individual-donor channels — the lobbyists themselves and their client-firm employees.

Two of the five lobbyists omitted their Khanna contributions from the 2 U.S.C. § 1604(d) LD-203 lobbyist-contribution report covering the relevant period. One of those two additionally certified `no_contributions=True` on the face of the report, a materially stronger false-certification posture than a simple omission. The other three complied.

The network is structural, not incidental. Across respondent's 2024-cycle individual-contribution universe, the count of distinct donors matching at least one LDA revolving-door registrant is 60 persons, placing respondent above peer-46 median (P66) and above chamber-active median (P85) — above the median in both universes, below the outlier tier in both.

2. The five named inbound revolving-door donors

Each of the five is flagged `is_revolving_door=true` in `lake.lda_revolving_door` with filing year 2017 or later, and each donated directly to the Ro for Congress principal committee (FEC identifier C00503185).

#	Donor	Prior federal role	Current registrant	Contributions to C00503185	Dates	Jurisdictional nexus
1	Chris Israel	US Coordinator for International IP Enforcement; Deputy Chief of Staff, U.S. Department of Commerce; Deputy Assistant Secretary for Technology Policy	ACG Advocacy (registrant id 2057)	$1,000 (2 × $500; one refunded within 24 hours)	2023-06-27; 2023-06-28	Technology / IP / pharma — Qualcomm (via Paul Weiss), Comcast, News Corp, AbbVie, PhRMA, Toyota, Nike, ThyssenKrupp
2	Arshi Siddiqui	Senior Policy Advisor and Counsel to Speaker Pelosi; Ways & Means Counsel to Rep. Becerra	Akin Gump Strauss Hauer & Feld LLP (Partner)	$2,000 (2 × $1,000)	2020-09-11; 2021-05-17	House Armed Services jurisdiction — RTX Corporation (12 filings); Honeywell International (10 filings)
3	Francisco Sanchez	Under Secretary of Commerce for International Trade (Obama administration); Senior Advisor to the Secretary of Commerce	Holland & Knight LLP; CNS Global Advisors; PT Capital	$1,250 (3 contributions)	2014-03-11; 2020-01-17; 2022-05-28	International trade — POSCO America (Korean steel), Illuminate USA (solar), America Movil (telecom), East West Bank (Asia-Pacific)
4	Kevin Batteh	Counsel, U.S. Commodity Futures Trading Commission; CFTC Detailee to the Senate Agriculture Committee	Delta Strategy Group	$1,000	2023-08-27	CFTC + Department of Defense — Citadel, D.E. Shaw, FIA / PTG, United Technologies (DOD prime, merged into RTX in 2020)
5	Robert Taylor	Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Senate Affairs; Legislative Director to Senator John Thune; Counsel to the Senate Budget Committee; General Counsel to the Office of Senator Don Nickles	RPT Legal Strategies PC; Defense Consulting Group, LLC	$1,000 (not refunded)	2023-04-19	Direct House Armed Services jurisdiction — Boeing, BAE Systems, Aerojet Rocketdyne, Textron, Ellsworth AFB Development Authority (via the Nickles Group)

The Robert Taylor entry is independently devastating on the revolving-door theory because the donor's prior federal role was Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Senate Affairs — the portfolio that directly interacts with House Armed Services jurisdictional oversight — and the donor's current lobbying book consists of the DoD prime contractors that the House Armed Services Committee funds and oversees. No other donor in the set presents the same one-to-one alignment between a prior defense-portfolio federal role and a current defense-prime lobbying book donating directly to an HASC Member.

3. Client-employee donor clusters

Beyond the direct lobbyist contributions, the lobbyists' client firms show systematic individual-employee giving to respondent's principal committee.

Chris Israel client portfolio — $166,575 across 127 individual contributions

Cross-match of Chris Israel's 78 LDA lobbying clients against individual contributions to respondent's committees (C00503185 Ro for Congress and the predecessor C00392100) identifies ten client firms whose employees collectively contributed $166,575.

Client	Contributions	Total	Period
Oracle Corporation	63	$65,885	2019-12 – 2024-01
Microsoft Corporation	28	$52,350	2013-12 – 2023-01
Qualcomm (via Paul Weiss)	7	$19,000	2022-11 – 2023-02
News Corporation	6	$10,500	2022-02 – 2023-12
Viacom	3	$8,000	2014-11 – 2015-06
VLSI Technology (via Irell & Manella)	2	$5,600	2018-10 – 2022-06
Comcast Corporation	9	$2,720	2014-04 – 2024-11
Genentech Inc	1	$1,500	2013-09
Aptiv, PLC	7	$469	2019-12 – 2020-01
U.S. Chamber of Commerce	1	$250	2015-12
Total	127	$166,575

Corporate-PAC giving from these firms to respondent: zero across every identifier checked (Oracle PAC C00323048; Microsoft MSVPAC C00227546; Qualcomm QPAC C00339085; News Corp PAC C00546101; Viacom/Paramount PAC C00167759; Comcast PAC C00248716; GENENPAC C00199257; Aptiv PAC C00346130; U.S. Chamber PAC C00082040; Nike PAC C00142786; Toyota PAC C00542365; AbbVie PAC C00536573; PhRMA C00021972). Respondent's no-corporate-PAC policy is intact; the monetary flow runs through individual-employee contributions.

Arshi Siddiqui client portfolio — $198,565 across 137 individual contributions

The same template applied to Arshi Siddiqui's 126 Akin Gump lobbying clients identifies twelve client firms with $198,565 of individual-employee contributions to respondent's committees.

Client	Contributions	Total	DOD / HASC relevance
Intuit Inc	48	$47,945
Salesforce.com	19	$42,900
Accenture LLP	15	$29,500	DoD contractor
DoorDash	15	$24,900
Micron Technology	11	$24,050	CHIPS Act / semiconductor export controls
eBay	6	$8,000
American Express	5	$7,600
Kohlberg Kravis Roberts	3	$5,700	Private-equity DoD-prime portfolio

Client	Contributions	Total	DOD / HASC relevance
Qualcomm	4	$3,750	Dual-represented with Chris Israel
Comcast	9	$2,720	Dual-represented with Chris Israel
Siemens	1	$1,000
Amazon.com	1	$500
Total	137	$198,565

Two clients (Qualcomm, Comcast) are dual-represented across the Israel and Siddiqui portfolios — two independent revolving-door lobbyists lobbying respondent's committee jurisdictions for the same clients. Combined Israel + Siddiqui cluster: $365,140 across 264 individual contributions spanning 20 distinct client firms.

Robert Taylor DOD-prime portfolio — zero-cluster negative finding

The same template applied to Robert Taylor's LDA portfolio (disambiguated via the covered_position "Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Senate Affairs" + "Thune"; actual registrants Defense Consulting Group, LLC and Podesta Group) returns zero client-employee contributions. A direct employer-ILIKE scan confirms only one Boeing employee contribution ($500 total) across all HASC-prime firms donating to respondent.

The null is itself probative. The Israel and Siddiqui clusters surface because their lobbying books are tech, pharma, and financial services — employee populations that routinely contribute to progressive Democratic candidates. DOD-prime employees do not widely donate to Members who publicly oppose defense-spending growth. Taylor's $1,000 personal donation is therefore the sole monetary link between his DOD-prime lobbying book and respondent's House Armed Services seat, which concentrates rather than dilutes the signal.

4. LD-203 compliance test — two of five omitted respondent

Under 2 U.S.C. § 1604(d)(1)(D), each LDA-registered lobbyist must disclose on the LD-203 semi-annual Lobbyist Contribution Report all FECA-reported contributions the lobbyist has made during the reporting period. The test applies to each of the five revolving-door donors and their Khanna contributions.

Lobbyist	Khanna contribution (FEC)	LD-203 period	LD-203 status
Chris Israel	$500 on 2023-06-27 (refunded 2023-06-28)	2023 Mid-Year	Filed; reports Moran / Kiley / Cruz; omits Khanna
Arshi Siddiqui	$1,000 on 2020-09-11 + $1,000 on 2021-05-17	2020 Year-End + 2021 Mid-Year	Filed; Khanna properly reported
Francisco Sanchez	$500 on 2022-05-28	2022 Mid-Year	Filed; Khanna properly reported (honoree named "Congressman Ro Khanna")
Kevin Batteh	$1,000 on 2023-08-27	2023 Year-End	Filed; Khanna properly reported (honoree named "Ro Khanna")
Robert Taylor	$1,000 on 2023-04-19 (not refunded)	2023 Mid-Year	Filed; affirmatively certified `no_contributions=True`; omits Khanna

Chris Israel LD-203 omission — the receipt-and-refund sequence

Respondent's principal committee received Israel's $500 contribution on 2023-06-27 (FEC Schedule A transaction type 15, individual contribution, transaction identifier 9345371) and refunded it 24 hours later on 2023-06-28 (transaction type 22Y, individual-contribution refund, transaction identifier 501054750). The net position is zero dollars. Israel's own 2023 Mid-Year LD-203, filed 2023-07-17 with `no_contributions=False`, reports three other FECA contributions during the period (Nathaniel Moran For Congress $500 on 2023-03-27; Kevin Kiley For Congress $500 on 2023-03-27; Ted Cruz Victory Committee $250 on 2023-05-03) but does not list the Khanna $500, which falls squarely inside the January 1 – June 30 window. An exhaustive scan of all 38 Israel LD-203 filings during 2008–2025, including amendments, returns zero filings mentioning Khanna in any contribution item. The Khanna contribution has never been disclosed on the lobbyist side. The downstream refund does not relieve the disclosure obligation because the contribution still appears on FEC Schedule A at gross amount. Under 2 U.S.C. § 1606(a), the civil penalty is up to $200,000 per knowing violation and up to $50,000 per negligent violation; under 2 U.S.C. § 1605(a)(8), referral lies with the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia and with the Federal Election Commission Office of General Counsel.

Robert Taylor false certification — materially stronger

Taylor's 2023 Mid-Year LD-203, filed 2023-07-19 by the registrant Defense Consulting Group, LLC, affirmatively certified `no_contributions=True` for the January 1 – June 30 period. FEC Schedule A records a $1,000 contribution from Taylor to Ro for Congress on 2023-04-19, reported by the committee with employer Rpt Legal Strategies PC and occupation Attorney/Consultant. The contribution was not refunded. An exhaustive scan of all 58 Taylor LD-203 filings during 2009–2025 returns zero filings mentioning Khanna.

The Taylor filing posture is materially stronger than the Israel omission. A `no_contributions=True` certification is an affirmative statement under penalty of perjury that there were no reportable contributions during the period, not merely a selective omission from an otherwise-populated list. That posture presents a cleaner vehicle for a knowing-and-willful theory under 2 U.S.C. § 1606(a)(2) (civil) and § 1606(b) (criminal), which prohibit knowingly failing to comply. The aggravating context: Taylor made the undisclosed $1,000 donation to a House Armed Services Committee Member while actively lobbying House Armed Services-jurisdiction DoD primes (Boeing, BAE Systems, Aerojet Rocketdyne, Textron, Ellsworth AFB Development Authority) through Defense Consulting Group, LLC and the Podesta Group.

The asymmetric refund — safeguard or inconsistency

The 2023-06-28 refund of Israel's $500 cuts in two directions. Favorably to respondent, the 24-hour refund suggests a committee-side compliance safeguard fired once Israel was identified as a registered Commerce-alum lobbyist, which mitigates any absent-safeguards argument. Unfavorably, if the refund policy was merit-based, Robert Taylor's $1,000 — from a Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Senate Affairs actively lobbying HASC-jurisdiction DoD primes, a materially stronger conflict than Israel's Commerce / IP role — should also have triggered a refund. It did not. The differential treatment is unexplained on the public record and warrants inquiry into the committee's written refund policy and why it applied to Israel but not Taylor.

Three-of-five compliance baseline

For completeness, the three lobbyists who did properly disclose their Khanna donations:

- Arshi Siddiqui (Akin Gump) — 2020 Year-End and 2021 Mid-Year LD-203s include Khanna under honoree / payee within the expected periods.
- Francisco Sanchez (Holland & Knight / CNS Global / PT Capital) — 2022 Mid-Year LD-203 reports payee "Ro Khanna For Congress," honoree "Congressman Ro Khanna," amount $500, date 2022-05-28, contributor name "SELF." An exact match against the FEC record.
- Kevin Batteh (Delta Strategy Group) — 2023 Year-End LD-203 reports payee "Ro For Congress," honoree "Ro Khanna," amount $1,000, date 2023-08-27. An exact match.

The compliance of three of the five establishes that LD-203 disclosure of a Khanna donation is the normal posture within the cohort. The deviation of Israel and Taylor is not an administrative footnote.

5. Outbound asymmetry

The flow in the other direction is thin. An exhaustive search of 10,001,004 rows in `lake.lda_activity_lobbyists` for covered_position mentions of respondent returns exactly one ex-office staffer: Nandini Narayan (Staff Assistant / Scheduler under respondent; also worked for Reps. Cox, Pappas, and Aguilar). Narayan joined TC Energy / TransCanada Pipelines, Ltd. on 2024-12-01 as Senior Adviser, Federal Government Relations. Her 2025 LDA activity is in-house lobbying for oil-and-gas pipeline industry interests — an industry respondent has publicly opposed on Line 5, Dakota Access, and Keystone XL. A full scan of respondent's bill-action corpus for the 16 months following Narayan's move (2024-12-01 through the current date) returns zero bill actions — sponsored, cosponsored, voted, or spoken-on-floor — matching the pipeline, natural-gas, LNG, Keystone, Line 5, Dakota Access, or TransCanada keyword family. The post-departure regulatory-favor predicate required for any outbound smoking-gun theory fails.

The asymmetry is itself probative. Respondent's office does not export revolving-door lobbyists to regulated industries that respondent's voting record would advantage, but it receives systematic individual giving from ex-federal officials who subsequently lobby respondent's committee jurisdictions. The theory is a donor-inbound theory, not a staff-outbound theory, and the data supports that framing.

6. Two-universe baseline — scope of the inbound network

Respondent's 2024-cycle individual-contribution universe for the principal committee (C00503185) contains 60 distinct donor name-keys matching at least one LDA-registered revolving-door lobbyist. The two-universe comparison runs as follows.

Universe	Denominator	Respondent rank	Percentile	Disposition
Chamber-active (≥20 individual-contribution rows during 2024, n = 1,456 principal committees)	226th	P84.5	Above chamber P75 (35 donors) and below chamber P90 (83 donors)
Curated peer cohort (42 high-volume active-trader peers with FEC principal committee populated)	15th	P65.9	Above peer P50 (26.5 donors) and below peer P75 (74.5 donors)

Both universes agree: respondent is above median but is not an extreme outlier. The peer cohort is tighter because it already filters for high-volume active filers.

The 60 name-keys expand to 102 distinct lobbyist identifiers in `lake.lda_revolving_door` once surname collisions are resolved. Their aggregate 2020–2025 federal-lobbying activity covers 5,198 distinct LDA filings, 41 distinct lobbying registrants, and 459 distinct client entities. A breakdown by covered-position agency — which classifies each lobbyist by the federal role they left before registering as a lobbyist — shows the following distribution across the 278 matched covered-position records:

- 124 Congressional (ex-Hill staff)
- 61 Financial-regulatory (CFTC, SEC, Treasury, Federal Reserve)
- 25 Commerce / International Trade
- 13 Department of Defense / Armed Services (HASC jurisdiction)
- 1 Other (FCC / State Department)

Respondent's legislative portfolio maps squarely onto three of those buckets: DoD / Armed Services via HASC; CFTC and SEC via the crypto and financial-innovation bills; Commerce / International Trade via technology and trade policy. The 60-donor cluster is a legible portion of the DC-lobbying population whose prior federal roles align with respondent's committee domain.

7. Inbound-staffer bill-activity overlap

Beyond donations, the federal lobbying firms currently employing the five Tier-1 inbound revolving-door staffers — ACG Advocacy (Israel), Akin Gump (Siddiqui), Holland & Knight (Sanchez), Delta Strategy Group (Batteh), RPT Legal Strategies / Defense Consulting Group (Taylor), and the Nickles Group (Taylor's former Senate principal) — collectively filed 35 LDA activities across 14 distinct clients on 7 distinct bills sponsored by respondent himself during 2020–2025.

Khanna-sponsored bill	Filings	Registrants and clients
H.R. 4421 Farm System Reform Act of 2021	13	Akin Gump + Nickles Group — Baxter Healthcare / Biotechnology Innovation Organization / Cleveland Clinic / Emergent BioSolutions / Florida Hospital Association (healthcare-industry opposition lobby)
H.R. 6822 NARA Modernization Act	9	ACG Advocacy (Israel's firm) — U.S. Anti-Doping Agency
H.R. 6270 State-Based Universal Health Care Act	5	Holland & Knight + Nickles Group — International Code Council + Joby Aviation
H.R. 7061 Big Oil Windfall Profits Tax Act	4	Nickles Group — Koch Government Affairs
H.R. 7095 Coretta Scott King Full Employment Federal Reserve Act	3	Holland & Knight — transit authorities
H.R. 5887 Government Service Delivery Improvement Act	1	Akin Gump — Adobe
H.R. 7763 Agriculture support	1	Nickles Group — Koch Government Affairs

The Nickles Group × Koch × H.R. 7061 combination is the strongest single data point: respondent's ex-Senate-Affairs staffer's pedigree firm lobbying respondent's own oil-windfall-profits tax bill on behalf of Koch Industries. It cross-corroborates Exhibit AA's direct Koch × H.R. 7061 finding on the lobbying-pressure axis.

8. Count 5 element coverage

- Element 22 — Prior covered federal role. Established for each of the five donors by the `covered_position` field on the respective `lake.lda_revolving_door` record, corroborated by public biography.
- Element 23 — Current LDA registration in matter before respondent's committee. Established by each donor's active LDA registrant status (2017-onward filings) with client portfolios intersecting HASC / Oversight / CAPAC jurisdictions.
- Element 24 — Continuing nexus to the Member. Established by the 60-donor 2024-cycle footprint and by the 35-filings × 7-bills overlap at §7, and corroborated by the concentrated 11-person inbound cohort.
- Element 25 — Disclosure or procedural failure. Established by the Israel omission and the Taylor false certification; mitigated by the three-of-five compliance baseline but not erased.

All four required elements are at primary strength on the operative facts.

9. Relief language

- Department of Justice — 18 U.S.C. § 207 review of the five individuals' post-employment lobbying compliance.

- Committee on Ethics — review of respondent's adherence to House Rule XXIII cl. 9 on acceptance of contributions from registered lobbyists for specific acts; written refund-policy inquiry addressing the Israel-refund-but-not-Taylor-refund asymmetry.
- Federal Election Commission — LD-203 compliance audit of the Israel omission and the Taylor false certification under 2 U.S.C. §§ 1604(d) and 1606(a), with referral of the Taylor filing to the United States Attorney for the District of Columbia under 2 U.S.C. § 1605(a)(8).

Respondent's no-corporate-PAC policy is intact; no finding of fault on that axis is sought.

End of exhibit.
